NO RESULT YET

North Carolina Delegates Ready to Stay All Summer if Necessary. CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 27.—At 2 o'clock this morning the State Democratic Convention, which has been in session almost continuously since noon on Wednesday, had not yet adjourned.

On the thirty-eighth ballot Congressman W. W. Kitchen's vote stood at 386. It requires 423 to nominate. The mountain delegation, which is making the welkin ring in the convention hall, and on the streets for Craig, was reinforced to-night by a fresh delegation which arrived on a special train.

Other western counties will send reinforcements to-morrow if no nomination is reached, and the outlook for an early termination of the contest is not rosy.

It is understood that the Horne forces are ready to go to Craig, but that they do not make the move for fear that Kitchen, who lacks only forty-three votes of the nomination, may secure that number by a break in the deadlock.

DOWN WITH BRONZE STATUES

General Butler Says Future Generations Will Take Heroes for Negroes. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 26.—Fearing that the use of bronze in erecting Confederate statues will result in future generations believing that the Southern people were a race of "d—d black negroes," General E. S. Butler, of Raymond, Miss., a Confederate veteran of note, has begun a movement to have the statue recently erected at that place torn down.

"Please have a white man put up at Raymond," pleads General Butler. "That bronze monstrosity is an insult to the Confederacy. Why was such an outrage foisted on the dead and living veterans? Why was a d—d black negro enticed to mutilate the images of our heroes?"
